

ANGLO-FRENCH MILITARY MISSION TO GO TO MOSCOW

Prime Minister Chamberlain Tells House That Group May Leave This Week

INDICATES PROGRESS

British Hopeful of Reaching Final Agreement With The Soviets

By Charles A. Smith
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 31.—An Anglo-French military mission will leave for Moscow probably this week, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced to the House of Commons today.

The announcement was interpreted as meaning that progress had at last been made in winning Soviet Russian participation in the anti-aggression front established by Britain and France four months ago during a period of unparalleled attention of the continent on Europe.

Political truces designed to overcome Russia's last objection to collaboration in the anti-aggression plan will proceed concurrently with the military negotiations, Chamberlain said.

The British government is hopeful, he intimated, of reaching a final agreement on the terms of the long-sought political undertaking.

"The Soviets have proposed," Chamberlain said in announcing dispatch of the mission, "that in the present state of negotiation, it would be an advantage to begin military controversy forthwith."

The British military delegation to Moscow will consist of Admiral Sir Reginald Drax, Air Marshal Sir Charles Burnett and Major General Heywood. France previously announced that General Joseph Edouard Dommeng, newly appointed member of the Supreme War Council, would head the French delegation.

Candidate Urges County Consolidation

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Campaigning as an Independent Democratic candidate for mayor of Philadelphia, Charles A. McBride, last night, suggested consolidating the counties of Montgomery, Delaware, Bucks, Camden and Gloucester with Philadelphia as a means of solving the financial ills of Philadelphia.

These "would provide sufficient tax money to save us from the financial plight we are now in," McBride is quoted as saying.

McBride spoke to a small group of Independent Democratic candidates for Council and row offices, who were at a hall at 5813 Woodland avenue for a meeting of voters which failed to come off.

The gathering was called by Thomas A. Winters, chairman of the West Philadelphia Independent Democratic Committee. It was postponed because Winters could not produce a permit, which the owner of the hall demanded.

FAMOUS CLUB ONCE ENTERTAINED LAFAYETTE

General and His Suite Dined in 1825 by Members of "Little Schuylkill"

ENTERTAINED IN STATE

The second and final portion of an article dealing with the oldest club in America, "The State in Schuylkill," reprinted in part from the August, 1883, issue of "The Century Magazine," is here given. The magazine was loaned to The Courier by Mrs. William Harding, Garden street. The State in Schuylkill Club, which years ago had its headquarters on the shores of the Schuylkill is now located here and Philadelphia.

The final portion of the story follows:

In 1825, "Little Schuylkill" invited General Lafayette and suite to dine in state at the Castle. The citizens, habited in white linen aprons and ample straw hats, formed in open file facing inward, near the north front entrance to the Castle. The three banners were on the right. General Lafayette and suite, and the gentlemen in attendance on him as escort deputed by the city authorities, alighted at the lines of the State. They were conducted between the open files toward the Castle by the Secretary of State; at the threshold of which Councillor Morris, in the absence of his Excellency the Governor, received Lafayette, as the guest of the State, with a cordial welcome, and presented him with a certificate of honorary membership as a fully qualified citizen.

The Marquis, expressing a desire as a member to do his duty, was duly invested by the Councillors with a hat and apron, and introduced to the kitchen, where he was initiated into business by attention to the turning of the beefsteaks on the gridiron. The banquet was served at four o'clock. All fared sumptuously, and the mirth was greatly enhanced by the happy witticisms of Judge Richard Peters, who sang several excellent songs, to the delight of his veteran friend Lafayette.

Since that time there has been little change in the simple manners and quaint customs of the State in Schuylkill. The erection of the dam at Fairmount in 1822 for the Philadelphia Water-Works stopped the tide-water and threatened destruction to the fishing. The "Schuylkillians," with sorrow relinquished the land they had occupied for 90 years, trusted their "Castle" to the waters of the Schuylkill, and, floating it five miles down the river, located their settlement at Rambo Rock, below Gray's Ferry. Here the Castle still stands, surrounded by a wood of lofty forest trees planted by the Freeman of that date, whose descendants alone remain to enjoy the grateful shade.

As we enter the long lane, shaded by buttonwoods, on a gala day, we see at the Castle busy men in long aprons and broad-brimmed hats. In dimensions the building itself is not awe-inspiring. Over the portal you may read the date 1732. The structure is of wood, and the many coats of yellow wash, peeling from its sides, reveal the secret of its preservation. The absence of glass, the board shutters being painted in imitation of windows, tells of a primitive period, while the bare floor and whitewashed walls speak of the ancient simplicity that has been preserved. The citizens are appointed in turn to market for the kitchen and to assign the preparation of the dishes to different members. Economy is the first requisite, and a thorough knowledge of the capabilities of the cooks the second. The large bowl, out of which we ladle our famous "Fish-House Punch" with the curious wooden "dipper" that never spills, was imported and presented to the State by Captain Charles Ross, in 1812. To this bowl the citizens bring their male infants and have the Governor baptize them in its ample space, which would indeed admit of total immersion. The superstition is that the heir so baptized will succeed the father in citizenship. . . . The refuse from the gas works has destroyed the fishing. . . . Lunch is served on the long wooden table, set under the protecting shade of the oaks.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

The American House, located at Seventh and Market streets, Perkaskie, has been purchased by Arthur Friedreichs, who has been operating the Souderton Hotel.

Mr. Friedreichs plans to take possession soon. The American House was established in 1870, and has been in operation ever since with the exception of the prohibition period.

A picnic is planned by the Great Swamp Fish, Game and Forestry Association, to be held on Sunday, August 6th, on the Landis farm, one mile from Quakertown.

Rifle and target shoots, fly and plug casting, water boiling contests, quoits and other games will be conducted.

On Monday morning, August 7th, at 9.30, the initial meeting of all students interested in becoming members of the various musical organizations at the Sellersville-Perkaskie High School, will take place.

The Blue and Grey Band which now prides itself with seven girl drum majors and a membership of nearly 50 young musicians, has a new incentive in mind with night football coming into the limelight in the Fall.

The morning of August 7 will be set aside for interviews with parents who seek suggestions as to the instrumental possibilities for their children and also for the registration of students for class instruction and membership to the Band and Girls' Chorus. At this time the regular rehearsals for the remainder of August will be scheduled and at the end of the month the Band and Chorus for the coming school year will be chosen.

Students of all ages will have the opportunity for this free instruction made possible by the Board of Education.

Enrollment expected at Sellersville and Perkaskie schools, including the joint high school, next Fall, will be about 1200, it is stated.

The enrollment will be classified as follows: Perkaskie, grades one to eight, 500; Sellersville, grades one to eight, 225; and joint high school grades nine to twelve, 480. The enrollment, according to Supervising Principal Snyder, will be about the same as it was last term.

At present the Summer school is in progress with about 125 boys and girls enrolled. Ten student teachers from Temple University are in charge of the 20 classes. The student teachers are under the direction of Dr. Eugene Michael, of the Department of Education of Ursinus College, Collegeville. The Summer school will close August 4th.

Members of the faculty as well as the student body in the joint high school are looking forward to the opening of the football season when night football games will be played on the school athletic field for the first time in the history of the schools.

Supervising Principal Snyder was unable to state exactly how many

P. O. S. OF A. MEETS AT WASHINGTON CROSSING

Second Annual Celebration Held by Two Orders at Plot in State Park

PARADE IS CONDUCTED

WASHINGTON CROSSING, July 31.—The second annual celebration of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, and Patriotic Order of Americans, at Washington Crossing State Park, here, yesterday, attracted 1,000 people from all parts of the state.

The colonial color guard, massing colonial flags from the period before Washington down to those of the present day, was one of the outstanding groups in the parade which marched through a portion of the state park to the memorial plot of the P. O. S. of A., where stands the statue of Washington overlooking the site where the father of his country crossed the Delaware River during the trying days of the Revolutionary War.

The presiding officer was state president of the P. O. S. of A., Elmer F. Keller, Emmaus, who introduced Dr. McGill, New Hope, superintendent of Washington Crossing Park, who extended words of welcome.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Edward Ray Strayer, Orland, state vice-president of order; and remarks were also made by J. Howard Williams, Doylestown, district president, who also served as marshal of the parade. The chaplain of the organization, the Rev. R. Earl Pettigill, of Fifth Baptist Church, Philadelphia, offered the invocation, and pronounced the benediction.

In the line of march were: Newtown Band; the cadet drum and bugle corps of Camp 345, Germantown P. O. S. of A., of which Charles E. Fox is director; the colonial color guard of Washington Camp, No. 50, of Roxborough; with George H. Lave in charge; the state camp color guard troop from Philadelphia headquarters, under leadership of Henry E. Abbott.

The attractive uniforms of the colonial guards, and of the musicians attracted much attention, and the fitting exercises were highly commented on by the large crowd gathered for this occasion.

night football games will be played, but there will be at least three, one with North Wales, which is not a member of the Bux-Mont League, and with Souderton and Ambler. It is not believed that Doylestown High will play under the arc lights at Sell-Perk this Fall. According to the schedule, Sell-Perk High is to meet Doylestown High on Community Field at Doylestown.

With Harrison Landis, Perkaskie, in charge, workmen are placing a new tin roof on the high school building. This will take the place of the one which has not been satisfactory.

Including Supervising Principal Snyder and the special departmental teachers, Sell-Perk High School will have 19 teachers on the faculty when the school opens next Fall. Two new teachers have been added to the faculty. They are Miss Gertrude Bittle, Sellersville, and Miss Ruth Stevens, Lansdale, who has succeeded Miss Dorothy Yanisch as director of girls' athletics. Miss Yanisch will teach in the Moorestown high school, Moorestown, N. J.

HONORS AT SCOUT CAMP ACCORDED NEWPORTVILLE

Herman Becker is Honor Scout of Buccou; Two Are Named to Secret Order

NEWPORTVILLE ITEMS

NEWPORTVILLE, July 31.—Newportville Scout Troop, No. 44, returned from Camp Buccou, Saturday, with the highest honors for the past week.

Herman Becker was honor Scout of the Camp; Robert Loper, Jr., honor Scout of Newportville troop; Robert Loper, Sr., was one of the three honor Scoutmasters of the camp for the week. Herman and John Becker were honored by being named to the secret order of the arrow, called the "W. W. W."

All the boys had an enjoyable week, having gained weight.

Miss Dorothy Meder is a patient in the Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia, having undergone an operation Saturday.

Mrs. Raymond Perpete is very ill.

The Young People's group of Newport Community Chapel were guests at the Y. P. C. U. of Newportville Church Sunday evening. Robert Lamont, a missionary from the Smoky Mountains in Tennessee, was the speaker.

Playground Equipment Broken at High School

Playground equipment at the Bristol high school was torn down last night and ripped apart. One of the swings was broken and cannot be repaired.

There was considerable equipment on the high school grounds and children of the entire community have been enjoying supervised play there each day.

This morning when the instructors arrived they found much of the equipment ripped out, the swings were down and one was broken.

Work of erecting the dismantled equipment was started at once.

Police were notified and Chief Jones investigated.

Police Chief's Slayer Sunders

Cynthiana, Kentucky, July 31.—Charles Allen, 70 year old sharpshooting retired farmer, hunted for the slaying of Cynthiana police chief and the wounding of nine possemen, surrendered today in Jacksonville, Kentucky, near Cynthiana.

Allen, accused of having killed Chief George M. Dickey, 78, Saturday night, after he had been trapped in a barn at his farm, with a 15 year old girl, gave himself up at the home of his mother. Allen said he had shot Dickey when he mistook him for a chicken thief.

Assistant Chief Ray Fichtmaster, who took the fugitive into custody, said Allen told him, "I thought he was a chicken thief."

The aged farmer later said, however, according to Fichtmaster, that he recognized Dickey and didn't want the Chief to arrest him. Allen made no statement regarding his alleged tryst with a 15 year old girl in the barn on his farm, where he was surrounded Saturday night by a huge posse, after Dickey had been shot.

Transfer Troops to Conflict Scene

London, July 31.—While tension between Britain and Japan continues, with new threats against Britons in China, the War Office today announced an undisclosed number of troops are to be transferred from India to the Malay Peninsula, closer to the scene of conflict. Simultaneously, official word reached London from Cairo, that 5,000 troops will arrive in Egypt from India to strengthen garrisons in the Suez Canal.

TO OFFER COMEDY AT BUCKS CO. PLAYHOUSE

Noel Coward's "Private Lives" At New Hope This Week

EXPECT BIG AUDIENCE

NEW HOPE, July 31.—"Private Lives," Noel Coward's sophisticated comedy, starring Bettina Hall and Sherling Oliver, will open at the Bucks County Playhouse tonight for a week's stand as the fifth production of the summer here.

"Private Lives" is being staged by Julia Dorn and St. John Terrell and the quadrangular cast includes Douglas Gilmore and Phyllis Dobson. Horace Armistead has provided the two Riviera settings for the popular English comedy of marital mixups.

Miss Hall and Oliver have played the leading roles several times together. Miss Hall was seen in May on Broadway as a star for the newly formed American Lyric Theatre in two folk musicals, "Susanna, Don't You Cry," and Stephen Vincent Benet's "Devil and Daniel Webster." She is well remembered for her work in "The Little Shows," "Three Little Girls," "Meet My Sister," "The Cat and the Fiddle" and "Anything Goes."

Sherling Oliver last season was seen in "Wuthering Heights" and before that with Maurice Evans in "Richard III," and in support of Wendy Hiller, the Pygmalion of the films, in the English hit, "Love on the Dole." He also played with Edith Barrett in "Symphony" and Mrs. Fiske in "Becky Sharp." Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh and "Ladies of the Jury."

Pilot Injured in New Hope Crash at Week-End Party

A flying party held in a field near New Hope almost resulted in tragedy Saturday afternoon when one of the planes crashed.

The pilot, Miss Margaret Lenox, 25, New York, suffered slight bruises and a 12-year-old child, who was not identified, escaped injury. The plane was owned by former Governor George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania, who witnessed the accident.

A group of 10 planes flew from Bennett Field, New York, for a week-end in resorts in this district. The first stop was Mercer Airport where the members of the flying party, headed by Carl Evers, the Wall Street flying taxi driver who pilots Governor Lehman and other dignitaries to their offices, were guests of the Luscombe Company. A tour of the plant was made.

A short time later the planes headed for New Hope and landed safely at 2 o'clock in Joseph Cramer's pasture, two miles north of the community. The party was greeted by Delaware Valley celebrities, former Governor Earle and Mayor R. C. Magill, of New Hope.

The flying week-enders were then driven to the Bucks County Playhouse where they witnessed the matinee performance, following which they returned to Mr. Cramer's pasture where the farmer cooked corn for them in an iron pot.

Grateful over the enthusiastic reception, the pilots decided to take up a number of their hosts for brief jaunts over the Delaware Valley. It was during this part of the program that Miss Lenox met with the accident.

She took off safely enough but failed to clear the trees bordering the pasture of Dr. Marshall's farm and nose-dived to earth. The plane was wrecked and officers hurried the pilot and the child to the home of Dr. Kenneth Leidy. An examination revealed that Miss Lenox was only slightly injured.

BRISTOL'S NEWEST ENTERPRISE IS NOW IN EMBRYO STAGE

One of Most Unusual Industries in Section—A Fur Farm

IN NEARBY SWAMP

Harry Patterson, Bath Road, Has Fine Start in Raising Muskrats

Bristol and its surrounding communities boast a host of varied industries that supply commodities for all sections of the world, but the newest, as yet in the embryo stage, will be one of the most unusual businesses in this section of the country.

This new enterprise, a fur farm, will be right at Bristol's back door, and the man who may develop the idea is a life-long Bristol Township resident.

And if the idea continues to completion, the new fur coat may now be nibbling at a choice bit of marsh weed less than a mile away!

With the recent purchase of 25 acres of ideal muskrat raising and breeding marshland, Harry Patterson, Bath Road, has the start for an excellent fur farm.

The land includes all that section of marsh south of Magnolia Road, or Feathered Road, to the tip of the Silver Lake Project, and also includes a section north of Magnolia Road.

Patterson has trapped this section here since he was nine years old. The idea of breeding and stocking, however, is relatively new with him.

In past years the supply of muskrats seemed endless, but during the past few years the animals have not been as plentiful.

As yet nothing definite has been done by Patterson on the development of the fur farm idea. He said that he may buy stock this Fall from a town near Chester. The black muskrat will be stocked, rather than the brown, because of the fact that the black muskrat pelt is worth considerably more money.

Although he has trapped as many as a thousand of these animals in one season, Patterson only took about 250 pelts last winter. This will enable the animals already in the area to breed and multiply.

By cutting down on his catch for a year and stocking new animals he will again in a few years be able to double his catches.

His equipment consists of two boats needed to get around in the deep water and swamp land, 150 traps, boots, stretching boards for the pelts, lanterns, skinning knives and other essentials.

The outlets for his hides are numerous, buyers coming from New York and other sections to his home to purchase the furs.

"I can remember distinctly when I received as low as ten and twelve cents for a fur," Patterson stated. And during the World War I received as high as $4.75 for a single fur."

Present market prices for the hides, which can be trapped only about three of the winter months, is considerably lower than the World War figure.

When trapped after cold weather has set in, preferably late in December or in January, the hides are in a prime condition and worth more.

Food for the muskrat consists of roots and grasses which are plentiful in the marshland. They are also fond of apples and corn and other fruits. Feeding his stock will not constitute a problem for Patterson as they can find their own food.

In past seasons muskrats have also been taken in this section, but these animals, worth considerable more than the muskrat, are becoming scarce. Several raccoons have also found their way into his steel traps, Patterson said.

The carcasses of the muskrats also provide a source of income, these being sold to persons at so much per carcass, and sometimes they are sold by the pound at a nominal figure. In certain of the larger cities of the country the muskrat is considered a delicacy and a ready market is found. They are sometimes called the "marsh rabbit," by enterprising cooks.

THAT seems to be the only answer that would send Mr. Farley away pleased and happy, which is unmistakably his condition when he sailed. So long as he got his reassurance, Mr. Farley does not care how much fun Mr. Roosevelt has in keeping the press, the public and his journalistic satellites guessing, and he will keep his secret, as he is accustomed to say, "deep down in the barrel." MAGLIONE TO MEET MIMS IN ARENA HERE ON AUG. 7TH

No Bouts Booked for Tonight
As Good Card Could Not Be Secured

MIMS UPSETTING DOPE

Maglione Has Been Winning
More Often Than Losing

Promoter Joe Gruerio announced today that he had signed Angelo Tony Maglione of Trenton to meet Philadelphia's newest sensation, Billy Mims, in his eight round wind-up at St. Ann's open air arena here on August 7th. There will be no show tonight as previously announced. Gruerio, had signed Willie Reddish, the tenth ranking heavyweight in the country for tonight but after scouring the country Gruerio was unable to get the right type of an opponent and decided to skip tonight rather than bring inferior opponents.

Mims is the colored youngster who has been upsetting the dope of late in Philadelphia. Five weeks ago he went into the Cambria ring as a substitute against Billy White, of Newark, who just recently defeated Billy Benhold among others. Mims was a five to one short under and it was even money White would knock him out. Not only did Mims last the limit, but one of the judges voted him the winner. Last week he met Midget Wolgast, the former flyweight champion of the world at the Cambria. Again he was on the short end of the betting but he proceeded to belt the Midget around in an uncertain fashion. In the fifth round he belted the Midge on the chin which knocked him to the canvas and Wolgast twisted his ankle. Mims was awarded the verdict on a technical knockout. He has also boxed Billy Maher, Eddie Cool and others.

Maglione, who has been winning more often than losing has his work cut out for him in this match with Mims. He will have to be in there winging with every punch and ready to go from the first bell until the finish. If he is not in shape and does not take Mims seriously, he might be in for a severe pasting from this colored youngster from Philadelphia.

Gruerio, is working on the balance of the card which he will announce shortly. It will contain a six round semi-windup and three four round bouts.

CATHOLIC BOYS WIN ONE; LOSE ONE OVER WEEK-END

The Catholic Boys' Club played two games over the week-end, losing to the Trenton All-Stars on Saturday by the score of 2 to 1 in one of the best games played on the Wood Memorial Field.

Last evening the Catholic Club defeated the St. Ambrose C. C. of Philadelphia 8 to 0. This game was to have been played on the Wood Memorial Field in the afternoon but had to be called on account of rain and transferred to Landreth's field. Mr. Landreth very kindly consented to the Catholic Boys using his field.

Saturday's game was a pitchers' battle between Bagley of Trenton and Quigley of Catholic Boys, the former allowing 2 hits and 1 run while Quigley gave up 3 hits and 2 runs. The C. B. C. held a 1 to 0 lead up until the 8th inning when Trenton bunched their three hits for two runs.

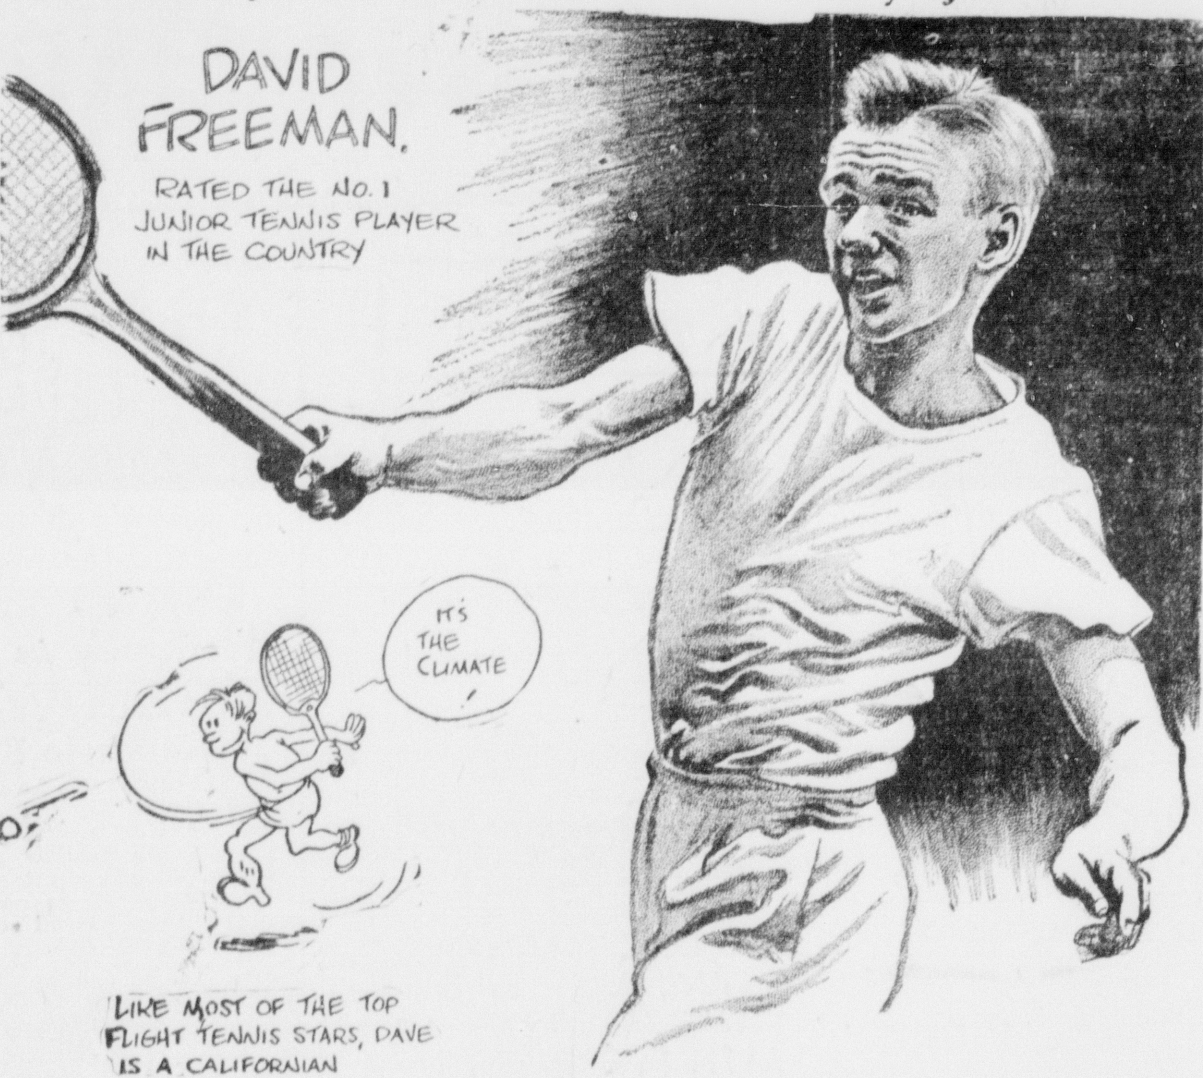

Sunday's game was featured by the hurling of Johnny Murray who allowed only three hits in shutting out St. Ambrose. Joe Quigley was the hitting star of the fray collecting 3 hits and a walk in four trips to the plate. The team played a very good defensive game in the field committing only three errors in the two games.

first run, while two infield scratches and a single by pinch-hitter Gulano registered the other score in the final inning.

The home team didn't solve the slants of Harry Dingler, the visiting hurler, until the third inning. Two were out when Rockhill tripped to deep centerfield. Liberatore walked and Rossi singled to center, Rockhill scoring. Lodge hit a two-base hit to right field to count Liberatore, Broderick grounded to short field ending the inning.

The Farmers clinched the game in the sixth with five markers. Weeney erred on Broderick's sharp grounder. Miksis was safe on his intended sacrifice as Willard failed to touch the initial sack. Dougherty's safe hunt loaded the bases. Griggs' hit counted two runners, Black singled another home. A fielders' choice, a base on balls to Liberatore and Rossi's hit followed before the side was finally retired.

In the seventh, a base on balls to Miksis, a fielders' choice, Griggs' hit, a wild throw by Dingler and a two base hit by Rockhill added two more runs.

Rockhill paced the home team with a triple and a double and also cut off a run at the plate in the third inning with a neat relay to Broderick for a double play.

Willard, the visiting first baseman, made three of their nine hits.

Landreth will play Ardmore of the Main Line League Wednesday evening at Landreth Ball Park. Game called at 6.15.

DIAMOND NINE NEEDS GAME TO CLINCH TITLE

Everything will be at stake tonight on Landreth's field as the Diamond nine meets the Odd Fellows in one of the most crucial tilts of the season.

Diamond needs the triumph in order to clinch the championship. As matters now stand, the Andalusia boys can be tied but not beaten and need this victory to assure them of the title and also the large trophy which goes with it.

The Odd Fellows are in a triple deadlock for second place. But they have lost eleven contests and cannot well afford to lose any more for the Hall Aluminum and Rohm and Haas nine have lost but ten each. In order to finish in the playoffs the Oddies must win tonight.

Joe Diamanti will use Charlie Whyno against the Radcliffe street clan while manager Bob Sutton will retaliate with either the veteran Milt Jones or Jake Paul. Catchers will be Tony Angelo and Jack McCue.

Joe Kervick will do the umpiring with Juno scoring. Tilt is scheduled to begin at 6.30 o'clock sharp.

and maples and underspread by a carpet of violets, daisies and buttercups. Comfortably placed in the deep-seated, high-backed chairs, the guests are served with lobster salad, cold corn-beef, and Welsh rare-bit. Lunch is hardly over before the Castle bell rings out from the tower, and the Sheriff appears at the door, calling out, "Oyez! Oyez!" making proclamation in the name of the Governor, summoning all citizens to assemble in the hall of the Castle to consider affairs appertaining to the State. To the deliberations of the Assembly, a busy scene presents itself in the kitchen.

Before the fishing was destroyed, one or two members would sleep at the Castle the night before Gala Day, and would be up at day-break to catch the early tide and return with dozens of white perch for the day's repast. These, being duly inspected and cleaned by the Coroner, would be assigned to some citizen to cook. To insure a successful toss, great care was used in placing the perch in the pan, the largest were placed at the outer rim, the heads meeting where the handle joins the pan. The next in size succeeded, and so on until the pan was full. When the fish were thoroughly cooked on one side, the cook would announce the fact, and everybody would gather around to see the toss. Loosening the fish by a lateral movement of the pan, with a further movement only to be learned by practice, the cook would toss and turn the entire pan of fish, replacing them in the pan with the cooked side up and each fish relatively in its original position. Owing to the destruction of the fishing, the toss is now nearly a lost art. When a crowd gathers round the old pump, it is a sign that the "Coroner" is cleaning the shad for planking. This is a matter of some ceremony. The senior apprentice claims the right to hold and turn the first shad for the "Coroner," after which one of the juniors is allowed to learn the art of cleaning and splitting a shad properly. Thoroughly washed, they are laid on the draining-board, and during their drying the boards, four feet by two, are placed before the fire to be heated. The shad are then nailed thereon with their backs to the boards, and having been properly seasoned are stood before the fire and carefully watched till done. The hour for dinner is designated by the "Caterer," and every cook is held strictly accountable if his dish is not ready. Another cook will prepare the roe sauce to accompany the shad—another specialty of this family of cooks, the like of which is never tasted save within the bounds of this commonwealth. On the "altar" at the end of the kitchen, on whose surface the bed of burning coals is constantly kept alive, may be seen the piece de resistance, the pigs split and laid upon the gridiron and being "barbecued." Nearly, a member prepares the pig sauce. Neither fork nor knife is allowed ever to penetrate the meats of these epicures; no juice must be allowed to escape; beefsteak tongs, imported from England, alone are used to turn the roast.

Not a grain of seasoning is allowed on steaks; but cooked over wood coals quickly, constantly turned, and served the instant they are done, the full flavor comes out as the juice flows when they are carved. . . .

On the 150th anniversary of the State many distinguished guests were present. The Governor of Pennsylvania sat on the right of the Governor of the State in Schuylkill, and, for once, within his own commonwealth acknowledged a higher authority. The famous Beefsteak Club of London, which, since the destruction of the fishing, the State in Schuylkill closely resembles, is its junior by three years, and none other with a continuous history approaches it in antiquity. Composed of the first citizens of Philadelphia, it counts many honored names on its roll. The candidate for membership must serve a trying apprenticeship and receive the unanimous support of the limited membership of 25. —(ROBERT ADAMS, Jr.)
